

People Do Not Use Their Land Right Over Here

English Actress Says England Lives on Soil We
In America Waste.

Miss Alexandra Carlisle, who comes to the Texas Grand for four days commencing next Thursday night, in "The Country Cousin," has one hobby, and that is farming. She was brought up on a farm in Yorkshire, England, and since she has adopted America as her home she has purchased an 80-acre farm at Lexington, Massachusetts, not far from Boston. Miss Carlisle does not run her farm as a pastime, but to make money. She is showing her New England neighbors a few things about farming they never knew before. She is really disgusted because of the fact that the farmers in this country have wasted vegetables and many of them in not even keep a cow. "Boston," says Miss Carlisle, "should

NEW BILL FOR THE CRAWFORD

Some Strong Features Offered This Week by the Movie Houses.

Described as a dapper musical diversion in two acts, "Where Were You Last Night?" will be staged for the first time in this city by the Ed Redmond Follies at the Crawford theatre for the entire week, commencing with the matinee performance tomorrow afternoon.

The entire cast will be assembled in the new production and it is claimed that the settings provided by artist Tipton will be the most elaborate ever seen on the Crawford stage.

The chorists will interpolate a series of melody numbers and will be attired in a number of fetching new costume creations designed specially for the play.

NEW MEXICAN GIVEN
DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS
Santa Fe, N. M., Jan. 11.—The distinguished service cross has been awarded Acacio Martinez, son of Teofilo Martinez, of Turley. Corporal Martinez served with company I, 13th Infantry. The order of Gen. Pershing reads: "For extraordinary heroism in action near Pully, France, November 16, 1918. Corporal Martinez, accompanied by two other soldiers in a tank attack on three heavy machine guns. Fired on directly at 30 yards, they charged the guns, met hand to hand resistance, and repulsed the enemy, capturing the machine guns. Martinez was the first to reach the enemy's position and was the first to capture the machine gun." Martinez was the first to reach the enemy's position and was the first to capture the machine gun.

Algernon Lost; Found Skating With Alligators

Actor Mitchell's Wife's Dog Wrecked Amid San Jacinto Ice Floes.

Actor Eddie Mitchell's wife's dog, Algernon, disappeared from the Crawford theatre Friday night, and the husband's occasional back stage and within a mile's radius of the show shop might have been mistaken for a recurrence of the film embargo or a cut salary notice.

"He's gone!" wailed the distracted Mrs. Mitchell in the middle of the first act.

Mitch hurriedly took a slant at the script for a cue conforming to the wife's words, but failed to connect the exclamation with the show.

Five dollars reward for the return of Algernon, shaggy the breedless tress of ten pounds of fox terrier meat.

The stage hands, first act half struck, stuck in the stage door in the hurried rush to the highways and byways to locate Algernon.

Wait to the House.
To the house was shouted in caustic tones the name of the missing dog, with ever and anon the quavering contralto appeal of Mrs. Mitchell.

Clara Kimball Young, stage carpenter, found Algernon doing a skating act on the thin ice of the alligator infested pool in San Jacinto plaza. The going was hard with Algernon and none of his feet coordinated as he lurched drunkenly amid the icebergs, half-blindly observed by the frenzied and helpless alligator, whose inert snout pointed skyward every hour of the clock.

Algernon's Rudder Jammed.
Algernon's rudder was jammed as he tried to tack the windward of the floating alligator jaws and when he did finally get squared away, his toes trembled as he vainly tried to regain the friendly cement coping surrounding the ice field.

Tenn lassooed the fish disturbing comely and prevented him from running himself to death. There's more joy in the Mitchell household, where Algernon is again in the sustenance squad.

Makes Corner Of France Seem Like Home In The Most Approved American Fashion

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Because Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., knew how to make a corner of France seem like home, and how to make American boys happy in the approved American fashion, "Aches and Pains" became known as "the best darned place in Europe." "Aches and Pains" was the Yankee term for Aix-les-Bains, the leave resort operated by the Y. M. C. A. for the A. R. P. on furlough, and Mrs. Roosevelt was in charge of the boys' work for the "Y." She has just returned to New York after 13 months of service in France.

She confessed that last February, on that memorable day when the first contingent of American soldiers arrived at Aix-les-Bains, she was filled with anxiety and dread, which was shared by the 45 other American women who were there to resolve the boys' problems. There had been vigorous grumbling when the soldiers learned that they were to be sent to Aix-les-Bains, and they were to be sent to Aix-les-Bains, and they were to be sent to Aix-les-Bains.

UNIQUE—"HITTING HIGH SPOTS."
Best Lyall, in "Hitting the High Spots," will be shown today for the first time. The picture has been held over a day longer than the original booking, because it's an exceptionally entertaining play.

SERVICE BUREAU TO HANDLE
TEXAS RAILWAY COMPLAINTS
Austin, Texas, Jan. 11.—Because of the unusually large number of complaints of unsatisfactory and inefficient railway service, coming from all parts of the state, the railroad commission of Texas has established a service bureau.
